

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA

Cory D. Krotzer,

Civil No. 06-1074 (JRT-JJG)

Petitioner,

v.

R.L. Morrison,

Respondent.

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

JEANNE J. GRAHAM, United States Magistrate Judge

This matter comes before the undersigned on Cory Krotzer's petition for a writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2241 (Doc. No. 1). Mr. Krotzer (Krotzer) claims the Bureau of Prisons (BOP) has not properly considered his request for placement in a halfway house. The dispute is referred to this Court for a report and recommendation in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636 and Local Rule 72.1(c).

Krotzer is incarcerated at the federal prison in Duluth. He alleges that he requested early placement at a halfway house, and that prison officials categorically denied this request under 28 C.F.R. § 570.21. Krotzer argues that this regulation violates the directions set out in 18 U.S.C. § 3621(b). Thus he asks that prison officials be required to reconsider his request for placement at a halfway house, applying the directions set out in the statute and disregarding the regulation.

After frequent litigation of this issue in federal district courts, the Eighth Circuit considered whether the regulation violated the statute in Fults v. Sanders. 442 F.3d 1088 (8th Cir. 2006). The court concluded that, because the regulation did not appropriately exercise the discretionary criteria set out in the statute, the regulation was invalid. Id. at 1092.

In response to this decision, which issued after Krotzer filed his petition, the BOP has conceded that its regulations are invalid. It has agreed to reconsider the request for placement in a halfway house, in accordance with a policy that was used prior to the promulgation of the regulation. Because of this action, the BOP has effectively granted Krotzer the relief he seeks in his petition, and so the petition may be appropriately denied as moot.

When the BOP disregarded the regulations and applied its previous policy, it determined that Krotzer still was not eligible for placement in a halfway house. Through a recent filing, Krotzer also challenges this decision and argues that the policy is invalid. This decision cannot be examined by this Court, however, because it is not mentioned in his original petition. See Branch v. Minnesota, 141 F.3d 1239, 1240 (8th Cir. 1997).

Being duly advised of all the files, records, and proceedings herein, IT IS HEREBY RECOMMENDED THAT Krotzer's petition for a writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2241 (Doc. No. 1) be DENIED AS MOOT.

Dated this 6th day of February, 2007.
